Roosevelt Orders Four - Day Bank Holiday

Extra Session To Enact Emergency Legislation

At nine o'clock last night the news was flashed across the continent that President Roosevelt had proclaimed a bank holiday to overlap by a few hours the convening of Congress in special session on Thursday.

The holiday provides for the issuance o f clearing house certificates to maintain a medium of exchange with w hich business can function during the holiday. It claps an embargo on exports of gold and silver. The proclamation also provides that any bank that gains the government consent to do so, may stay open to conduct its business as usual and accept new deposits to be placed in trust accounts subject to full withdrawal.

Insofar as the s tate banking situation is concerned, the national proclamation supercedes any state action that may be proposed. The President acted by virtue of wartime legislation which gives him such authority in times of national emergency.

It was learned this morning that the Bank of America, with 410 banks in this state was preparing to issue Bank of America script, good in exchange of credit in all its branch banks in this state.

This was intended merely as an emergency measure and whether the Bank of America will proceed with it, pending the issuance of clearing certificates under the national emergency authority, is a question to be settled, probably within the next few hours.

Here is the full text of Pres ident Rossevelt's proclamation: :

Whereas there have been heavy and unwarranted withdrawals of gold and currency from our banking institutions for the purpose of hoarding; and

Whereas continuous and increasingly extensive speculative activity abroad in foreign exchange has resulted in severe drains on the nation's stocks of gold; and

Whereas these conditions have created a national emergency; and

Wheheas it is in the best interests of all bank depositors that a period of respite be provided with a view to preventing further hoarding of coin, bullion or currency or speculation in foreign exchange and permitting the application of approximate measures to protect the interest or our people; and

THE LAW

Whereas it is provided in section 5 (B) of the act of October 6, 1917, (40 Stat. L. 411) as amended, "That the president may investigate, regulate, or prohibit, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, by means of licenses or otherwise, any transactions in foreign exchange and the export, hoarding, melting, or ear-marking of gold or silver coin or bullion or currency . . , "; and

Whereas it is provided in section 16 of the said act "That whoever shall willfully violate any of the provisions of this act or of any license, rule, or regulation issued thereunder ,and whoever shall willfully violate, neglect, or refuse to comply with any order of the president issued in compliance with the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than $10,000 or, if a natural person, impressed for not more than 10 years, or both, . . ";

CALLS HOLIDAY

Now, therefore. I Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, in view of such national emergency and by virtue of the authority vested in me by said act and in order to prevent the export ,hoarding, or earmarking of gold or silver coin or bullion or currency, do hereby proclaim, order, direct and declare that from Monday, the sixth day of March, to Thursday, the ninth day of March, 1933, both dates inclusive, there shall be maintained and observed by all banking institutions and all branches thereof located in the United States of America, including the territories and insular possessions, a bank holiday, and that during said period all banking transactions shall be suspended.

During such holiday, exceptions as hereinafter provided, no such banking institution or branch shall pay out, export, earmark, or permit the withdrawal or transfer in any manner or by any device whatsoever, of any gold or silver coin or bullion or currency or take any other action which might facilitate the hoarding thereof; nor shall any such banking institution or branch pay out deposits, make loans or discounts, deal in foreign exchange, transfer credits from the United States to any place abroad, or transact any other banking business whatsoever.

TO PERFORM FUNCTIONS

During such holiday, the secretary of the treasury, with the approval of the president under such regulations as he may prescribe, is authorized and empowered (A) to permit any or all of such banking institutions to perform any or all of the usual banking functions, (B) to direct, require or permit the issuance of clearing house certificates or other evidences of claims against assets of banking institutions, and (C) to authorize and direct the creation in such banking institutions of special trust accounts for the receipt of new deposits which shall be subject to withdrawals on demand without any restriction or limitation and shall be kept separately in cash or in deposit in federal reserve banks or invested in obligations of the United States.

ALL FORMS

As used in this order the term "banking institutions" shall include all federal reserve banks, national banking associations, banks ,trust companies, savings banks, building and loan associations, credit unions or other corporations, partnerships, associations or persons engaged in the business of receiving deposits, making loans, discounting business paper, or transacting any other form of banking business.

JACKRABBITS INVADE STREETS OF ALTURAS

ALTURAS, Mar. 6—(UP)—No grass grows on the city streets here but there are jackrabbits running up and down them.

The recent cold weather and deep snows have forced the animals into town and they are a common sight on the main thoroughfare.

Between traffic and dogs the casualties are heavy.

MAYOR OF CHICAGO DIES

Bullet Intended For Roosevelt Ends Fatally

MIAMI, March 6—Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, died this morning at 6:57 Eastern standard time, from the effects of the bullet he received from Giuseppi Zangara, the assassin who attempted to strike down Franklin D. Roosevelt, then president-elect, two weeks ago. For several days the life of Chicago's beloved mayor hung in the balance, but gangrene having set it, the fight to save his life was waged in vain.

Gathered at Mayor Cermack'k bedside when the end came, were his three daughters, Mrs. Lillian Graham, Mrs. Ella Jirka, Mrs. Helen Kenlay; his granddaughter, Vivian Graham; his brother, Joseph Cermack; and his sister Mrs. John Kalla.

A specially impanelled grand jury met this afternoon to indict Zangara on a charge of first degree murder. Zangara had already been convicted on five counts of attempted murder and had been sentenced to the Florida state prison for a term of eighty years.

NEVADA CITY QUINTET WALLOPS LINCOLN

Nevada City's A quintet scored a triumph over Lincoln Friday night in a fast and furious battle in Redmen's Hall. The count stood 24 to 8 when the game was over.

Chapman had one of his most successful nights of the season having chalked up half of the total points made by Nevada City, Toccalini was taken out in the early part of the game with a sprained ankle. The first quarter was more or less slow but the second quarter was one of the fastest ever seen on the local court. Nevada City made 9 points to Lincoln's one in this quarter. During the 3rd quarter each team made four points. The last quarter Nevada City made three buckets while Lincoln failed to score. The final scove was 24 to 8.

The Nevada City A basketball team cinched a third place position in the C. I. F. League by defeating the Lincoln high 24 to 8.

The Nevada City B's although not victorious played a fast and threatening game. They were beaten by a mere 7 points in one of their best games of the season. Time after time, Celio chalked up field goals for Nevada City. Spaffi and Sharp would feed the ball to Celio, who was in the hole and 2 more points or Nevada City would follow. Celio was high point man with 9 points to his credit.

The score at the end of the first half, stood Nevada City 5 Lincoln 14. In the third quarter the local boys held their opponents to two points, while Nevada City added 5 points to make the score 10 to 16. Davey and Stedger also saw action when Spaffi the spark of the team was put out on fouls.

The final score was 16 to 23.

ALL OFF WITH SCHOOL HOLIDAY

Following another proclamation of Governor Rolph, exempting schools from the effect of his first proclamation declaring bank holidays, schools which closed last Friday resumed sessions this morning and will continue without reference to bank holidays. The Nevada City schools both reopened this morning. Grass Valley schools did not close at all.

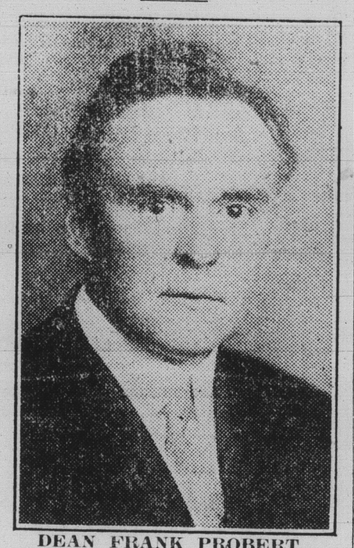
NATIONAL FORESTS ARE VISITED BY 3,610,500

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 6—(UP)—National forests in California were recreational centers for 3,610,500 persons in 1932 according to report of the United States forest service.

While the number of persons visiting the 18 forests was less by 282,000 than 1931 forest officials pointed to the increase in the use of summer homes and camp grounds. The loss in patronage they said was reflected in the number of guests at established resorts and the number of picnickers.

DEAN PROBERT OF U. C. TO SPEAK ON LURE OF GOLD



DEAN FRANK PROBERT

GRASS VALLEY, March 6.—One of the most outstanding members of the faculty of the University of California, Dean Frank H. Probert, will give a public address entitled, "The Lure of Gold," at 8 p. m. Friday evening, March 17, in the auditorium of the Grass Valley high school

This was made known through announcement made today by O. McCraney, secretary-treasurer of the Nevada county chapter of the Mining Association of California, who is chairman of arrangements. The program is being given under the auspices of the Nevada county chapter of the California Alumni Association .

Dean Probert has had a most colorful and interesting career. After receiving the degree as Associate of the Royal School of Mines, London, in 1897, he plunged immediately into an outstanding successful career as a mining engineer. In the years after his graduation and until 1916 he served successively as research metallurgist of Phelps, Dodge and Company, and as a consulting engineer. In the last-named capacity Dean Probert had offices in New York and California, from which he directed copper enterprises in many parts of the world.

In 1916 Mr. Probert accepted the position as professor of mining in the University of California. During the same year he was made a consulting engineer of the United States Bureau of Mines, a position which he still holds. In 1917, Professor Probert became Dean of the College of Mining and Chairman of the Reports of Mines and Metallurgy of the University. At the same time he began active war work, serving first on the War Minerals Committee and later as a member of the American Mining Mission to France. As a member of this commission he helped to draw a satisfactory plan for the rehabilitation of the mines destroyed during the war. Immediately following the war, Dean Probert found more and more activities confronting him.

In 1918 Dean Probert was elected Councillor of the Mining and Metallurgical Society of America, and he still holds the position. In 1925 he was elected chairman of the San Francisco section of the American Institution of Mining Engineers, and from that time to date has been a member of the Minerals Committee of the California Delevopment Association; chairman of the Standardization Mining Commission of the American Mining Congress and a member of the following committees of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers; Ground Movement and Subsidence, Ventilation Methods, and Engineering Education. Dean Probert lists membership in the following professional societies: American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, Mining and Metallurgical Society of America, Institute of Mining and Metallurgy of London, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, American Mining Congress, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He also holds honarary membership in Tau Beta Pi, Sigma XI, and Theta Tau. As a token of appreciation by University of California, Dean Probert has been made honorary member of Golden Bear, Winged Helmet, Big "C" Society, Circle "C" Society, and Phi Phi.

A speaker of force and personality, Dean Probert annually delivers a welcoming address to new students at the first Creek Theatre Rally of the year.

Red Cross, Benevolent Society, Succors Needy

The Nevada City Red Cross under the chairmanship of Judge L. Jones, the Nevada City Benevolent Society under the chairmanship of Mrs. G. Calanan, and the Child Welfare Committee of the Parent Teachers Association, chairman, Mrs. W. C. Perry, are doing a wonderful work in the relief of distress among the people of this community.

This morning Mrs. Perry, Red Cross committee chairman in charge of the clothing division, gave a representative of the Nugget a brief summary of what her division has accomplished. One hundred and fifteen individuals and families have been provided with garments. A committee of 16 women working devotedly with sewing machines at Mrs. Perry's home has made a total of nearly 1,000 garments to date for needy families in this vicinity. Among the various things made were overalls, pajamas, underclothing, coats, trousers, night gowns, comforters, and layettes for tiny new arrivals.

The Benevolent Society has, in general, been the dispenser of food to needy families. A huge supply of flour has been received for this purpose.

The Child Welfare committee of the Parent Teacher Association has been active in assisting children of parents hard pressed to provide food and clothing. Fifty eight children have received clothing. This clothing consists of used garments which have been cleaned and made over to fit the needs of the children. Eight homes have been provided with milk from one to 5 months . Some families have been supplied with medicine. Comforters, blankets and matresses have been donated to children in some instance, where their parents were unable to provide them.

Included in the Red Cross activities has been the providing of a nurse for cases of sickness among those who are nearly distitute.

The W. S. Perry home has been the Red Cross depot for all clothing and bedding supplies received in this city, under orders of the Red Cross National headquarters. These supplies come direct from factories in all parts of the country, and consist of the very best materials.

Last week there are arrived a consignment of sweaters, warm serviceable garments of the best quality and color, which will be given out wherever the need arises.

SURVEY REVEALS BAD CONDITION OF WATER MAINS

A survey made yesterday by the fire department committee assisted by City Engineer Ed Uren, revealed a condition in the city water mains that brooks no delay in putting to rights.

Redwood pipe leading from the reservoir into the city system was found to be in bad condition, not as to the redwood, but the steel wire wrapped around the pipe staves. In many places this wire wrapping was found to be corroded to such an extent that the pipes may burst at any time.

In fact with but a twenty-five foot head, one section did burst during the last days of the rectn water famine when the reservoir was filling.

In other sections old pipe of far too small diameter to provide adequate water for service demanded, it was discovered, must be replaced with larger pipe, and in some sections old iron water pipe badly corroded must be replaced.

One of the worst faults of the system was found to be the junction of a six inch pipe to a nine inch pipe through which flows the free water belonging to the city into Canada Hill reservoir. Nine inch pipe from the intake, farther down the slope was succeeded by six inch pipe. This cuts off nearly two thirds of the city's free water. The volume of free water delivered in Canada Hill reservoir determines the amount of water which the city must purchase.

The only explanation offered for this condition was, that sometime or other in the city's history, the city father's were offered a bargain in six inch pipe and they proceeded to join it to the nine inch pipe already laid.

City Engineer Uren is now estimating the probable cost of replacements. He states that he is some doubt regarding whether it will be cheaper to remove the steel wire wrapping from the redwood pipe, and substitute copper bands, three to the foot, or replace the redwood pipe with new pipe. The redwood pipe itself seems to be in excellent condition except at the joints, where the redwood sleeves sometimes show decay.

As regards more storage, it was intimated that a new reservoir may

THE HOUSING SHORTAGE

People who would like to live in Nevada City, people who have business here and must have a place to live, are being driven from the city because there are no houses to be rented. They are going out into the woods and tourists camps where they rent the best they can get in the way of one or two roomed cabins at prices that are too high. Some of them go to Grass Valley where they can rent apartments and occasionally find a vacant house.

There seems to be but one or two persons in Nevada City who realize the opportunity this house shortage affords them. One o fthem has built a fifteen or twenty, one and two room cabins for which he receives $10 to $15 per month on an investment of not more than $200 per cabin. Another has purchased a number of old houses, thoroughly renovated, repaired and painted them, and now receives excellent rents for them.

Both these men declare they know of no other investment which pays so large a percentage of profit as this.

A man who has lived in Nevada City many years, estimates that at least 250 more people would be living in Nevada City today, if they could find house in which to live.

Estimate that each person spends $1.50 for groceries, rents, clothing, and recreational expenses, and we have $325 a day that should be flowing into the tills of our local merchants. As a matter of fact, of course they must receive a part of it, but if these people were living here in their own homes, the daily revenue for our local merchants would be greatly increased.

Superficially it might appear that the people with money to invest here, have not sufficient faith in their own city to invest it in houses and lots. We do not believe this is the case. We think it is rather due to fact that it is difficult to see the forest because of the trees. We have lived so close to conditions as they have been for many years, that we do not see them changing before our very eyes. Hope long deferred hath made the investor's heart so sick that he does not see that here and now there is an opportunity to invest money and receive for it an unusually large return.

There never was in the past ten years such a demand for homes as Nevada City now witnesses. There never was a time in that period when building costs were cheaper and rents higher. Here is an opportunity for an investor with little or much money to greatly increase it.

Anarchists and radicals must be curbed:

While the attempted assisination of President-Elect Roosevelt doubtedless reflects the spirit of revolt now rampant throughout the world, many California editors believe responsibility for attacks of this type may be traced to the tolerant attitude assumed by American authorities toward malcontents who advocate violence and direct action rather than the orderly process of the ballot.

Declaring a determined effort is being made by red groups to create discontent that will result in revolution, the Salinas Index-Journal said:

"The American people are put to test by the scandalous practice in every community in the states of permitting extreme un-American groups to do as they will," said the Pasadena Star-News.

WEEKLY COMMENT

By Christian Andersen

A recent despatch stated that a California oil company had sold a large cargo of gasoline to the Soviet Republic. That's interesting to California, because it puts some more new money into circulation, but aside from that there is another interesting phase, which is that the gasoline was sold for four cents per gallon.

A little mental arithmetic discloses the phenominal fact that there is a tremendous difference in the price the motorist pays and the price paid by a foreign country. Of course there must be reason.

March 7, thousands of trees will be planted in California as a living memorial to Calvin Coolidge. The sentimental side of such a move is more worth while than a whole parkful of dead granite monuments. Aside from this feature, living trees have commercial value as well as adding to the beauty of this already beautiful state.

George Bernard Shaw, the British satirical humorist, will be in San Francisco on March 27. He will no doubt do some plain and fancy wisecracking, and some will take him seriously while others will continue their faith in the world and in humanity.

Hitler the new chancellor of Germany is certainly caught in the eddies and cross-rips of the nationa sea of trouble and unless he proves to be the best navigator Germany ever had the ship of state may be foundered on the rocks of communism or some other ism equally as bad.

Can't do anything aobut it so to Herr Hitler—Bon Voyage. Aufwiedersehen.

Knowing that if we once permit the diversion of the gas tax funds to other purposes than that of road building and maintainance it leaves the gate open for other raids on this fund, I cannot see why "Sunny Jim" keeps bullheadly forcing the issue.

If some exigency has brought the budget out of balance, why rob one fund so necessary as the gas tax fund to cover some error or other in the administering of the state government.

Governor Rolph will make himself so disliked in quarters which will control a lot of votes in the next governatorial election, that if he runs again he find himself on the short end of the final count.

I am a product of the American school system and whatever I have in the way of mental equipment was trained with practically the methods as in use today. My heart still thrills when talk turns to schools and I can not see how we can cut anything from the budget of our schools. On the other hand I would be willing to pay even more taxes for schools if I knew they were going to be used for the benefits of education.

The only true legacy any person can leave their children is an education which equips them for the role of good citizenship.

Arthur Brisbane, the dean of American columnists has consistently tried to describe California and its advantages over the rest of the world but even as versatile a writer as he, finds himself swamped with ideas which the English language is inadequate to express. Overcome with the beauties, the climate, the mountains, the Pacific Ocean.

I doubt if even the Bard of Avon could write a tome which would do California pustice.

Dont forget to tell the world that NEVADA CITY IS THE GATEWAY TO THE MOUNTAIN PLAYGROUNDS.

Ere you read this column our new president will have taken his place as the nations leader. If confidence can be restored with speech then our new president certainly spoke the magic words in his inaugural oration Saturday. I have listened to many powerful orators, including W. J. Bryan, but never have they so completely sold my consciousness as the talk by Franklin D. Roosevelt and most important of all he spoke with a sincere frankness which left nothing for the hearer to guess what was meant. We can I believe trust more completely in the near future than has been our privilege for many years.

HIGHWAY TRAFFIC IN STATE TAKES BIG DROP

Some of the routes checked and the percentage loss were: Sacramento to Oregon line, 17.7 Sunday and 10.7 per cent Monday; Sacramento to Los Angeles, Sunday 16.5 and Monday 20.7; Sacramento to Nevada line, Sunday 31. and Monday 10 per cent.

LOOKING UP

By S. G. RUBINOW

(Unitd Press Special Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO,— (UP) —Reorganization of the Republican party, along extremely liberal lines, and directed by young men and women of the faith, is reported by many political observers in various sections of the country.

Proceeding cautiously, and unattended by any flare of publicity trumpets, the young Republicans are working steadily to lay the foundation for a new organization.

Naturally, they are concentrating on colleges and universities, and on young Americans interested in good government. Aiding in the movement, though not consciously, is the work offered by colleges and universities in the principles of government, and the training of personnel for various types of public service.

National thought on political matters in terms of parties seems to be fairly well divided.

A large group of voters are of the opinion that all lines of demarcation that formerly divided the Republican from the Democratic parties are gone.

They claim that it is impossible any more to say who is a Republican and who is a Democrat, according to principles, planks, platforms, or pledges.

The old feeling that one was a Republican because one's grandfather was, or that one was a Democrat because one's father happened to be of that faith, is gone, irrevocably gone.

The last election proved the truth of this statement. The bigger thing in which voters are interested is determining or trying to determine which candidate is going to do most for the country as a whole.

In other words, it has narrowed down, now, to a question of candidates and personalities instead of parties and platforms. That, unquestionably is an unfortunate state of affairs.

Voting for a man because you like his name or family, or voting against him because he smokes a big cigar or wears a peculiar hat or collar, is voting in a biased or prejudiced manner, to put it mildly.

Platforms are bigger than candidates, every time. The trouble in the past has been that there was no way to distinguish between the platforms of our two major political parties.

That being true, perhaps a suggestion would not be out of order. What, I feel, we need in this country, from now on, is a reorganization of both major political parties, and the construction of both of them into two new parties.

We can call one party the liberal party. And we can label the other the Conservative party.

Let the Liberal party draw up its platform and say to the country just what constitutes its political liberality.

Let the Conservative party do the same. One party would, then represent one set of principles, and the other party would stand for something entirely different.

We need changes. We are living in an age of the changing order of things. And those changes should be made in a way which will benefit the largest number of our population.

TAXPAYERS ASK CUT IN OFFICIAL SALARIES

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 6—(UP)—Reductions ranging from 10 to 50 per cent in all salaries over $1,000 anually "paid out of taxation" is proposed in a program submitted to the legislature by the Common Property Taxpayers of California.

The organization presented this program following a two-day meeting here.

SOLONS TO WORK OUT PLAN FOR STATE DRY VOTE

SACRAMENTO, March 6—(UP)—With no precedent to follow, the state legislature faces the task of setting up machinery by legislative act to permit California to vote on the question of repealing the 18th amendment.

Various plans have been forwarded by state officials and will form the basis of bills now under preparation by the legislative council bureau.

The most simple of these plans would permit some state official, probably the governor or secretary of state, to appoint 22 electors favoring the repeal of the 18th amendment, and 22 electors in favor of retaining the prohibition amendment.

This plan it was pointed out, would allow a comparatively short ballot and provide for a direct vote on the wet and dry question so there could be no doubt concerning the wishes of the people of California.

Another plan suggested calls for the designation of electors by petitions signed by 100 or more registered voters.

"The plan to permit electors to file by petition," a state official said, might lead to confusion inasmuch as there would be no limit to the number of names which would appear on the ballot.

"The petition plan from the standpoint of groups also might cause a split in the vote and not represent a true expression on the question of prohibition repeal such as would be possible by having the two sides of the question represented by a limited number of electors."

It is also the duty of the legislature to set a date for te special election.

Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state, said it would be possible to prepare for such an election in approximately 40 days after the enabling legislation becomes effective.

A promising contender for the heavy weight ttitle is deliberately molding his career after Gene Tunney. They say he already holds a volume of Shakespeare right side up and some times he even reads a few lines.

Generally speaking, the tellers of sensational hard-luck stories are bragarts, as most of them were never high enough to fall that far.

COSOLIDATIONS URGED TO REDUCE STATE TAX LOAD

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 6—(UP)—California's judicial system is pointing toward the consolidation and enlargement of justice courts.

This trend is revealed in a report of the judicial council of California, as well as in bills now before the state legislature. Consolidation of these courts, it is believed, would permit numerous economies as well as relieve the load on superior courts.

According to the judicial council report, the four justice courts in Nevada county cost $3,660 last year.

"Enlargement and consolidation of counties, or the establishment of judicial districts, is being suggested by some who would reduce the taxpayers' burdens in California," the report pointed out.

"Argument also is being advanced that a more efficient administration of justice can be brought about, particularly in the smaller and sparsely populated counties, by the selection of one well-qualified justice of the peace with increased jurisdiction, to be given full responsibility for the various township courts, having his headquarters at the county seat and going about the county as required.

"Such a plan would permit paying of a salary sufficient to attract one of special qualifications, and enable him to devote full time to the work, if required."

The proposal to extend the jurisdiction of justice courts is provided in a summer of bills before the legislature, one of which, by Senator C. King, Hanford, would limit townships with a population of less than 15,000 persons to one justice of the peace and one constable. This limit applies to townships of less than 10,000 under the present law.

SUPERVISORS ORDER SCHOOL DIST. MERGER

A large number of the residents of the Gold Flat section attended the regular monthly session of the meeting of the board of supervisors this morning and when the session was called to order by Chairman Dudley, the supervisors room at the court house was filled to capacity. Both proponents and opponents of the matter of vital interest to all was to be discussed, the petition to annex the Oakland School District at Gold Flat to the Nevada City high school district.

After hearing all arguments pro and con, the supervisors adopted a resolution incorporating the Oakland school district with that of the Nevada City high school district. This will not affect the Oakland school district buildings and property nor its status as an elementary school.

LEGAL STATUS EXPLAINED

Mr. Charles W. Bursch of the school planning division of the State Department of Education was present to explain the legal status of the petition filed with the Supervisors.

Clarence Watters of Gold Flat was the first speaker on behalf of the Gold Flat delegation. Mayor Bennetts followed Mr. Waters presentation of the composite views as far as he could ascertain them, of the taxpayers and others of Gold Flat.

Mayor Bennets referred to the action of the Grand Jury, of which he was foreman, in indorsing the plan of annexation as a matter of tax economy.

The third matter which was presented to Chas. W. Bursch by the board was the matter of the unionizing of the four elementary districts, of French Corral, Birchville, Sweetland and North San Juan.

RURAL ATTENDANCE

It was stated to Mr. Bursch that the school building of each school are quite near the county road and that only a couple or three miles separates each district from the other and that the attendance registration of one district is but 7 pupils; the attendance of the other two is 13 respectively, while the fourth school shows an attendance of 14 pupils. This is the average attendance.

It was deemed possible by consolidation, to hav ebut two teachers assemble the scholars of the present four districts in one building or to use two of the present buildings, with one teacher in each building in which school house the children of two of the present districts would assemble. This would eliminate the cost of paying salary to so many teachers.

Mr. Burch approved the plan tentatively but advised that he would have to become familiar with the topography of the school district and have a concensus of the opinion of the district taxpayers thereof before any action could be approved by him. Members of the board concurred in this opinion.

BLUE TENT ACTION RESCINDED

At the conclusion of the hearing of the various views of the opponents and the opponents of the petition to annex Oakland district to Nevada City high school district the members of the board of supervisors asked Mr. Bursch to give them his views on the recent action of the board in annexing the Blue Tent school district to the local high school district. This procedure was merely formal as it had been previously decided under California school laws that an error had been made by the board in its previous action of annexing this district as the district is more than three miles beyond the Nevada City high district, thus not being contiguous to it as required by state school law.

This matter was then clearly presented to the board in a speech made by Kenneth M. Arbogast who represented the taxpayers and other residents of the Blue Tent section which lies about six miles north of this city.

In response to this verbal petition for annulment, the board of supervisors unanimously rescinded their their order of February 6, 1933.

not be necessary. Cleaning out one of the old reservoirs and slightly enlarging it may be sufficient to provide a water reserve over a period of three months or more, it was estimated.
